Canadian Newspapers,
Like Those in U.S.,
Hit by High Postage

Loyal Phillips, co-publisher of the Elizabeth City Daily (N.C.) Advance, reports in a Southern Newspaper Publishers bulletin received here this morning, that Canadian papers have been hit as hard or even harder than their U.S. contemporaries by drastic hikes in postal rates.

Here in part is what Mr. Phillips, a member of SNPA's Business and Administration Committee, says:

"According to a survey made by a Canadian circulation manager, the average drop in the mail circulation of 18 newspapers since 1968 is 39 per cent. Eighteen newspapers reported combined losses amounting to 40,500 copies. One paper had converted 8,900 copies to other delivery methods but one publisher was able to convert only 30 copies.

"The highest loss in mail circulation reported by either of the 18 participating circulation managers was 78 per cent.

"The survey disclosed that in 1968 (prior to the 2nd class rate increase) the cost of mailing an average single copy was three-quarters of a cent, while the largest paper reporting cost 3.1c. "According to the survey, the smallest paper now costs 2c per copy while the largest is now paying 10.3c. The 2nd class rate seems to have increased around 300 per cent since 1968.

"Our Canadian counterparts indicate that a majority of retail trade zone subscribers can be served by means other than mail service but that the postal system seems to offer the only practical way of handling All Other.

"In an effort to offer SNPA members the benefit of recent Canadian experience we obtained from a representative of a large Canadian group a synopsis of developments. Here's an up-to-date report from a reliable source.

"Most of these changes have been motivated by sharp postal rate increases.

"1. To a greater extent newspapers are delivering dealer and carrier bundles to outlying communities by their own trucks or by contract drivers rather than by the post office.

"2. There is a greater use of carrier boys in outlying communities rather than mailing.

"3. Some newspapers are using school buses to ship carrier or dealer bundles to outlying communities.

"4. There are a few cases of newspapers actually using the post office department's rural route drivers (who have contract arrangements with the post office) to deliver newspapers on a per copy payment basis or on a flat fee basis. There is some question as to the legality of this but it is being done in some regions and in most of these cases the deliveries are being made simultaneously with the mail delivery.

"5. Another point is that a greater number of newspapers have set up their own throw-off routes in their rural areas and generally these are operating by independent drivers rather than by newspaper employees."

In the United States second class postage (which governs newspapers) will rise 33 per cent this May, and a total of 142 per cent during the next 10 years.

By comparison commercial "junk mail" is being given a total increase of only 31 per cent.

A familiar face hovered over Roy Anderson and your editor at coffee Monday afternoon. I recognized the face from more than 30 years ago and was groping for the name that went with it, when the voice spoke: "V.F. Williams."

The rest was history quickly recalled. Mr. Williams was cashier-operator for Frisco Railway in Hope from 1929 to 1938. He later switched to the Seaboard Airline road at Atlanta, and still later took a job with the American Train Dispatchers Association in the same city, became vice-president of that organization,

Officials at AM&N College Indicted

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Two officials at Arkansas AM&N College, the former head cashier at the school and the son of AM&N president Dr. Lawrence A. Davis have been indicted by a Jefferson County Jury that investigated financial problems at the school.

Ronald A. Davis, son of the president, was named in an indictment charging that he illegally borrowed public funds.

Authorities said J. A. Ramos, AM&N vice president for fiscal affairs, and business manager Sylvester Early were charged with violating an Arkansas statute that forbids expenditures in excess of appropriations.

Richard Anderson, former head cashier, was charged on one count of forgery and one count of embezzlement, officials said Monday.

Ramos and Early were released on $1,000 bond each and Anderson was released on $1,000 bond on each count.

The Grand Jury returned the indictments Friday. It had investigated the report of legislative auditors that had revealed a shortage at the college of more than $92,000 in cash funds.

Auditors also had reported that the college had unpaid debts of more than $1.3 million. The legislature, which went into recess Friday, has approved a $1.3 million appropriation to pay the debts of the predominantly Negro college which is to be merged with the University of Arkansas next year.

The embezzlement indictment accuses Anderson of embezzling $2,000.49. The forgery indictment against Anderson charges him with "making counterfeit the endorsement of a check payable to the order of C. Williams drawn by Sylvester Early and J. A. Ramos for the sum of $77.50 on July 2, 1969."

Cora Williams formerly worked in the cashier's office. The check was drawn on the college's account.

The Grand Jury, which convened Feb. 1, returned seven indictments Friday, but the others have not been revealed because warrants have not yet been served.

The Passage of Time Softens Blows, Turns Them Into Nostalgia

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the safest sanctuary in life.

It is a retreat from the shrill fears and alarms of today. Memory enables us to retreat in spirit to the past and keep the best of yesterday alive. To recall some of those yesterdays may be painful, but they cannot kill us because we have already survived their worst hurt.

Anyway, the passage of time softens the blunt blows of earlier events and tends to bathe them in a wistful nostalgia.

FBI Becomes Political Football

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Edgar Hoover, the 76-year-old living legend that heads the FBI, is taking on some characteristics of a political football as his Democratic critics exchange fire with the Republican administration.

The latest round in what is becoming a widening controversy over Hoover's stewardship of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was opened on the House floor Monday by Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana.

Accusing the FBI of tapping congressmen's telephones, putting agents on college campuses and "adopting the tactics of Hitler's Germany and the Soviet Union," Boggs declared:

"The time has come for the Attorney General of the United States to ask for the resignation of J. Edgar Hoover."

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell immediately replied from Key Biscayne, Fla., that Boggs "has reached a new low in political dialogue."

He said he had no intention of firing Hoover and added that Boggs "should recant at once and apologize to a great and dedicated American."

One FBI insider tried to put the exchange in political context.

"That's the Republicans talking to the Democrats," he said of Mitchell's long-distance retort. "And Boggs, that's the Democrats talking to the Republicans."

Fatal Shooting Brings Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Scott Leonard, 21, of Little Rock was charged with first-degree murder Monday in Circuit Court in the shooting of Fred Phillip Pack Sr., 49, of Little Rock.

Pack and his son, Fred Pack Jr., were shot during an argument March 26 at a liquor store owned by the elder Pack. He died Sunday.

for President Nixon and others who disapproved of the old Warren court's liberalism, has become the cutting edge of the attack by Black and Douglas, as the court under Chief Justice Warren Burger drifts further rightward.

In a highly emotional dissent Monday, Black raked a 5-4 ruling that naturalized Americans living abroad could lose their citizenship if they did not spend five years in the United States.

And Douglas took on a 6-3 decision permitting agents to send informers into the homes of narcotics suspects with hidden radio transmitters and to use the recorded conversations in the prosecutions.

Four years ago the Supreme Court held no American can be deprived of his citizenship without his consent. Black wrote the 5-4 opinion in the case of a Polish-born painter who had voted in an Israeli election.

Now that Nixon's two appointees, Burger and Harry A. Blackmun, had made a reversal possible, Black boiled over.

He said the precious right of citizenship "should not be blown around by every passing political wind that changes the composition of this court."

In a final jab, the 85-year-old justice said: "Of course, the court's construction of the Constitution is not a 'strict' one."

The bugging ruling led Douglas to a dissent in which he decried electronic surveillance as "the greatest leveler of human privacy ever known."

He asked: "Must everyone live in fear that every word he speaks may be transmitted or recorded and later repeated to the entire world? I can imagine nothing that has a more chilling effect on people speaking their minds and expressing their views on important matters."

"The advocates of the regime should spend some time in totalitarian countries and learn first-hand the kind of regime they are creating here."

Sentences Given in Circuit Court

In Hempstead Circuit Court Monday pleas of guilty were entered and sentences handed down by Judge John Goodson.

Harlis Samuel Rowe of Washington pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and grand larceny and given a three year sentence to the department of corrections. He was charged in connection with the burglary of the Bottle Shop in Washington.

Shirley Williams, Nancy Crawford, Caroline Jones, John Wesley Gipson and Herman Earl Henderson, all of the Texarkana area, charged with grand larceny, entered pleas of guilty to petty larceny and were each fined $25 and costs. They were charged with taking merchandise and money from the Middlebrooks Store in Columbus.

Mary Ann Jones, charged with grand larceny, entered a plea of guilty and was given a three year probation sentence. She was charged in connection with the theft of $45 from the local Trailways Bus Station.

The State vs Herman Seals, charged with burglary and grand larceny, was being heard by a jury Tuesday. The charge was in connection with the burglary of the Sport Center here.

But he told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee his National Railroad Passenger Service Corp. believes its plan for intercity train service offers the best chance of attracting the traveling public back to the railroads.

Kendall said the best way to meet that objective is to "start with a restricted basic system covering the routes of highest ridership demand."

He said that the corporation would seek to "develop innovative services and marketing concepts, and gradually expand the system as public confidence is renewed and prudent

Fight Assured on School Aid Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $728.6 million amendment package laid the groundwork today for another bruising battle between President Nixon and Congress over federal aid for schools.

The bundle of proposals put together by Rep. William D. Hathaway, D-Maine, would boost the $5.49 billion Office of Education appropriation bill now before the House and carried for a vote Wednesday.

Backers claim the bill, as it stands, would provide less than 50 per cent of the amount authorized for major school programs in fiscal 1972 by previous congressional action.

The amendment package that support also has the backing of many members of the Democratic Study Group and a number of labor unions.

Twice before, Congress and the President have butted heads over funding education programs.

The President vetoed Office of Education money bills for fiscal year 1970 and 1971 because they provided more funds than he had budgeted.

The vetoed 1970 measure called for $1 billion more than the budget provided. Congress sustained this veto, but overrode Nixon's refusal of the $4.4 billion 1971 bill, which was $453 million above the request.

The Hathaway amendments would add $208 million to the $722 billion recommended by the Appropriations Committee, for a total hike of $235 million over the budget for elementary and secondary education.

Other large budget increases proposed by Hathaway include $138 million for aid to impacted school districts, those with heavy pupil enrollment from military and other government facilities; $216 million for higher education and $121 million for vocational and adult education programs.

Reports President Has Speeded Up by Almost Half the Pullout Rate

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has speeded up almost by half the rate at which he is pulling U.S. troops out of South Vietnam says Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt.

Aiken, dean of Senate Republicans, said the accelerated troop withdrawal rate of 18,000 a month has been in effect for the past two weeks and will be announced formally Wednesday when Nixon addresses the nation concerning the reduction rate.

U.S. troop pullouts have averaged about 12,500 a month since last year.

If the 18,000 a month rate continues, Aiken said, Nixon "would get them all out sometime next year ... I don't think he would leave many behind."

"I have noticed in his last two TV appearances he—the President—has put emphasis on the withdrawal of troops, insisting he would withdraw them at not less than the present rate," Aiken said.

"But for the last two weeks they've been running at not less than 18,000 a month," Aiken asserted.

Aiken spoke in an interview with Metromedia radio news.

He predicted Nixon easily will be able to meet with withdrawal deadline proposed by Senate Democrats—January 1973.

U.S. troop strength in Vietnam peaked at 543,000 in April, 1969. It is now about 300,000.

Meanwhile Washington Sen. Henry M. Jackson, hawkish Democratic presidential prospect, said in a separate interview statements by Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird lead him to believe the combat role of U.S. ground forces will end by next year, perhaps even as early as next month.

But, Jackson said, it is likely the war will continue with U.S. air support from aircraft carriers or from bases in Thailand.

In a separate move on the Senate floor, Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, introduced a resolution calling for complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces from South Vietnam within a year of the final exchange of all war prisoners and the accounting of men missing in action.

Cammando Raid Made Inside Laos

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — An elite South Vietnamese force staged another commando raid into southern Laos today and attacked a North Vietnamese regiment, South Vietnamese military headquarters announced.

A headquarters spokesman said initial reports from the field showed 15 North Vietnamese were killed and eight tons of enemy rice destroyed along with a ton of foodstuffs.

The spokesman said the raiding force—a company of highly trained Hac Bao, or Black Panther, troops—struck across the border at a point south of Khe Sanh, but did not give a precise location of the target area.

The raiding force, estimated at 200 men, was ferried into Laos by U.S. helicopters.

SAIGON (AP) — An elite South Vietnamese force staged another commando raid into southern Laos today and attacked a North Vietnamese regiment, South Vietnamese military headquarters announced.

A headquarters spokesman said initial reports from the field showed 15 North Vietnamese were killed and eight tons of enemy rice destroyed along with a ton of foodstuffs.

The spokesman said the raiding force—a company of highly trained Hac Bao, or Black Panther, troops—struck across the border at a point south of Khe Sanh, but did not give a precise location of the target area.

The raiding force, estimated at 200 men, was ferried into Laos by U.S. helicopters.

The Black Panthers returned to South Vietnam before nightfall. There were no reports of any helicopters being hit.

A similar force of Black Panther commandos staged a 26-hour raid last Wednesday and Thursday against a North Vietnamese position in an area south of Khe Sanh and west of the A Shau Valley.

In the latest raid, a Saigon headquarters spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties were light. He claimed the raiding party captured four crew-served weapons and five AK47 assault rifles.

The spokesman said the target was a base camp of a North Vietnamese regiment. He gave no other details.

In last week's raid, the Black Panther force jumped off from Mai Loc in northernmost Quang Tri Province and returned to Hue, headquarters of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division to which they are attached.

The latest raid, as with the first one, apparently was staged by the South Vietnamese to demonstrate they still held the initiative in Laos and could strike when and where they wanted.

Temperatures to Remain Quite Cold

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures will remain quite cold over Arkansas through tonight with slightly warmer readings expected Wednesday.

The mercury dipped to a record low 31 this morning in Little Rock. The previous record for April 6 was 32 degrees established in 1898.

The unseasonable cold is being caused by a cold Canadian air mass centered over Western Kansas along with a cold deep upper air low pressure system over Southern Missouri and Northern Arkansas.

Heavy snow was falling this morning over Eastern and Central Missouri and some snow was expected to move southward into the northern portion of Arkansas today. Most of the activity should be confined to the extreme northcentral and northeast sections of the state.

Thinks Move for Sarver Will Fail

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers predicted Monday that public support for reinstatement of Robert Sarver to the job of state correction commissioner likely will fail, both in winning reinstatement and in creating public feeling in favor of it.

The governor said he was aware of the broad outcry from the public in the wake of Sarver's dismissal March 29 by the state Board of Correction.

He added, however, that he believed some of the criticism was politically motivated and other criticism stemmed from fear that he was "against professionalism."

"I don't see it that way," Bumpers said. "Professionalism is not going to end with this administration, it's going to increase."

He said he had talked to two persons as possible successors to Sarver, but would not name them.

The governor pointed out the need of hiring someone with a degree and several years of experience in "modern corrections." He said there was a "distinct possibility" that Sarver's successor would come from outside Arkansas.

Sarver declined several opportunities from newsmen Monday to indicate a desire to have the job back. He said he believed campaigns to mount public support in his behalf would serve the best interest of good government.

"It's a point that should be made, not the retention of a particular individual in a particular job," Sarver said.

He stopped short of fully expressing disinterest in the possibility of returning to the correction commissioner post, however.

Bumpers said that he had no desire to drive out of state government individuals appointed by former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

The governor said that Col. Ralph D. Scott, a Rockefeller appointee, who has resigned effective May 1 as State Police director was under consideration for another job. Bumpers also said that he had urged Len Blaylock, another Rockefeller appointee, not to resign as state Welfare Commissioner.

Asked about the appointment of Elijah Coleman of Pine Bluff, a Negro, to the Arkansas State University Board of Trustees, Bumpers said there had been little pressure exerted in the matter and, that, contrary to Coleman's remark, "there was no tokenism about it."

He pointed out that among other black appointments, he last week named Dr. Fred Chambers, a professor at predominantly Negro Arkansas AM&N College in Pine Bluff, to the Commission on Coordination of Higher Educational Finance.

Stravinsky, Famed Composer, Dies at 88

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Music Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — Igor Stravinsky, the most influential composer of the 20th century died today of an apparent heart attack. He was 88 and had been ill for about one year.

The composer, who remained controversial as well as celebrated over the last 60 years, with a constant capacity to disturb and astonish listeners, died at his Fifth Avenue apartment.

Stravinsky, who was born June 18, 1882, near St. Petersburg, Russia, flashed to the attention of the musical world in 1910 with the performance of "The Firebird" in Paris.

Would Merge School Aid Programs

By G.C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today to consolidate 30 aid programs in a $3-billion special education revenue-sharing fund to broaden federal assistance to non-public school pupils.

In the last of his six messages on revenue-sharing, Nixon said the education plan would spur innovation, enhance educational planning, increase accountability, provide new flexibility, and improve evaluation of the effects of federal aid to elementary and secondary schools.

The proposed $3-billion fund, to contain $200 million in new money, would be distributed to states and local governments on the basis of population for aid to disadvantaged students, the handicapped, vocational training, districts near federal installations, and for books and other educational equipment.

Although providing no details, Nixon said his education fund would considerably broaden "the authority for extending aid to students in non-public schools."

"Non-public school students would be counted in the reckoning of population for purposes of allocation, and all forms of educational services would be available to them," he said.

Students in parochial and other private schools are now eligible for federally funded education services on a limited basis.

With the exception of money for disadvantaged children, states would administer the other spending categories of the President's plan, relying on a broad statewide blueprint shaped with citizen participation.

Disadvantaged students would receive the largest portion of the fund, $1.53 billion in the first year. Other allocations would include $180 million for the handicapped, $420 for so-called impact aid to districts with large numbers of federally-employed families, $360 million for vocational education, and $510 million for textbooks, educational equipment and other supporting materials.

The money would be allocated among the states by a formula that would use the total number of elementary and secondary school pupils, the number of these children who are from low-income families, and the number whose parents live on federal property.

Red Leaders Seem to Want Relaxed Period

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Kremlinologists are heartened that Soviet leaders at the current Communist Party congress indicate they seek a relaxation of international tensions—at least for a period.

A well-placed source said speeches by Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko were notably more conciliatory than Washington had expected.

The White House, he said, had anticipated hard-line speeches on international affairs that would be tailored mainly for Soviet consumption. He emphasized, however, the remarks at the meeting indicate to White House officials the Soviets may want to "cool it" internationally for the present at least.

The Soviets face considerable economic difficulties at home and some of their observers here believe this may account for the relatively moderate speeches by Brezhnev and Gromyko.

Brezhnev told the opening session of the party congress last Tuesday that while critical of American "aggressive actions" in Indochina and the Mideast, "We proceed from the assumption that it is possible to improve relations between the Soviet Union and the United States."

He added that Soviet policy "is consistently and fully to practice the principles of peaceful coexistence, to develop mutually advantageous ties, and to cooperate, with states prepared to do so," including the United States.

Brezhnev's speech was followed later in the week by a statement from Gromyko advising President Nixon to take seriously the party chief's words.

At the moment, Washington is watching a number of fronts on which the Soviets could back up words with deeds: In the Middle East, at four-power talks on the status of Berlin, and at the strategic arms limitation talks in Vienna.

As for Vietnam, officials here expect little help from Moscow in seeking a negotiated peace.

finances permit." Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., charged that Railpax "has given the national railroads the opportunity to embark on a mass passenger train discontinuance."

"If Railpax isn't interested in starting off on the right foot, perhaps it would be best to withdraw all funds already appropriated," Mansfield added, so the corporation "will not be able to operate after May 1."

Mansfield said his section of the country would not be receiving effective service under the Railpax plan.

"If Railpax isn't going to succeed in serving the nation, and I mean the 48 contiguous states, then it should not begin. As proposed, only the Northeast Corridor from Washington, D.C., to Boston, will receive more than skeletal scheduling of passenger trains," Mansfield said.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., urged the committee "to rescind any public funds earmarked for the Railpax corporation and to deny any future requests for funds until Congress receives a detailed justification of route selection and restoration of rail passenger routes across Wyoming."

McGee said that under terms of the 1970 Rail Passenger Service Act the Secretary of Transportation had been directed to take into account the need for service "within and between all regions of the continental United States—I stress the word all."

He added that he believes the actions of the secretary and the Railpax leaders "have been in direct violation of the spirit and intent of the Rail Passenger Act."

Refugees Tell of Horrors in Pakistan

By DENNIS NEEDLE
Associated Press Writer

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — A British ship arrived here today from the East Pakistani port of Chittagong with 119 foreign evacuees, including 37 Americans, many of whom told of seeing mass executions, burning, looting and indiscriminate killing.

They said civil war was still raging on the outskirts of Chittagong when they boarded the 9,000-ton Clan MacNair for the 300-mile overnight voyage to Calcutta.

But they said the Pakistani army was in full control of central Chittagong, the province's second largest city.

Americans in the group told newsmen of a wave of slaughter by both sides in the war between President Agha Mohammad Yahya Khan's army and the rebel forces of Sheikh Mujibur Rahman's supporters.

They reported the army had cleared Chittagong of the East Pakistani irregulars and were steadily fanning into the surrounding countryside, burning villages in their path.

Chittagong port was in army hands, they added, and its control extended to at least five miles from the city.

Jesse Eaton, a Baptist missionary from Lockport, N.Y., said that beyond the five-mile limit, the sheik's forces were controlling the area.

Eaton said his wife and three children drove 60 miles from their mission at Cox Bazar to Chittagong.

"You run into no man's land just past the Chittagong radio station and its 300 yards before you hit the Pakistani army positions," Eaton said. "That was the most terrifying part of the journey."

Eaton said the radio, knocked out by Pakistani jets, is still in the hands of the sheik's forces.

"From there to the center of Chittagong we saw only the ashes of bamboo huts," Eaton added.

Leon Lumsden, an American engineer working on a U.S. aid project, said he personally witnessed the executive of 15 Bengalis by Pakistani troops.

"Soldiers just walked up to anyone wearing a lungi, the native Bengali dress, and shot them through the head," he said.

Film Folks Hand Nixon Their Problems

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Around a conference table, 23 leaders of the financially troubled Hollywood film industry laid their "catalog of terrors" before President Nixon. His response was "a very warm and sympathetic ear."

But Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, said Nixon offered no immediate support of a tax-relief bill now pending in Congress.

While sympathetic to its aims, Valenti said, Nixon told the executives during the 100-minute meeting that any such bill "would have extreme difficulty this year. Congress seems to be reluctant to make any modification in the tax law."

By the President's invitation the meeting took place Monday at Nixon's one-story office next to the Western White House.

Reports Try for Takeover in Ceylon Fails

COLUMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike said today her government had foiled an attempt by insurgents to take over Colombo.

In radio announcement Ceylon's woman premier said troops had been deployed throughout the island as "Che Guevara" insurgents launched a series of attacks on police stations, security patrols and government buildings.

Mrs. Bandaranaike said 25 attacks had been repulsed, with a few casualties among police and army personnel and "considerable" casualties among the rebels.

The insurgents commandeered buses for the attacks and used homemade bombs and firearms, she added.

Several arrests were reported and a dusk-to-dawn curfew was ordered throughout the country. All schools and universities were closed.

Mrs. Bandaranaike said power supplies and rail and communication links in parts of the country had been disrupted.

She said now that terrorist forces had started the violence, the government would not hesitate to hand out drastic punishments and stamp out the insurgency. She announced that she had outlawed the People's Liberation Front, as the Marxist rebel organization is called.

Mrs. Bandaranaike announced on March 7 she had mobilized the armed forces to maintain law and order following a mob attack on the U.S. Embassy in Colombo. About 150 youths claiming to be members of a Maoist youth front threw bombs at the building, burned two cars and attacked others in a demonstration against U.S. military action in Laos. A police officer was stabbed.

On March 16 the government declared a state of emergency following police reports of increasing activity by the militant People's Liberation Front.

Mrs. Bandaranaike's Freedom party returned to power in a landslide election victory last May with the Communist party as an ally.

The coalition promised to solve the country's problems by establishing a Socialist society, with priority to be given to the nationalization of foreign banks.

But hoped-for aid from Communist nations has not been forthcoming, 700,000 persons are now unemployed, a budget deficit of $195 million is expected this year, and the Socialist program has been shelved while the government gets help where it can.

Berkeley Vote Featured by Radicals

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Berkeley's municipal election today features a determined effort by self-described radicals to take control of the City Council and split the police department into three neighborhood-controlled units.

Somewhat overshadowed is a mayor's race which could give this university community where student dissent became a byword its first black chief executive. The two top contenders in a field of nine are Negro city councilmen.

Two blacks and two whites who have described themselves as radical leftists are among 33 candidates seeking four seats to be filled on the nine-member City Council. They claim that if they are elected and either of the black councilmen becomes mayor the radicals would control the council.

Almost the entire police force has threatened to resign if voters approve a radical-backed city charter amendment to split the department into three forces—one in the white area, one in the black area and the third south of the University of California where most students live. About 30 per cent of the city's 113,000 residents are black.

CAN A GIRL COLLECT BACK UNEMPLOYMENT PAY?

I quit my job because my boss was a wolf. When I wouldn't play that way, he tried to "educate" me, so I turned in my notice.

Because I had quit, I found I couldn't collect unemployment benefits. You have to be laid off. I didn't go into details, figuring "refusal" would not count.

After four months I got another job.

Just recently I heard of a case where a girl collected unemployment pay when she proved she was harassed into quitting because of an amorous employer.

Could I apply for back benefits, using this as an example? I need to settle old bills!—PURELY BROKE

Dear Pure: Could you prove the charge? I'm afraid experienced wolves cover their tracks well, and his word against yours might make you look pretty silly.

...But don't take My word: Inquire at the unemployment agency.—H.

Dear Helen: I have a long beard and hair to match. Why not? It's a free country. But the lawmakers around here have ruled that we can't get "aid" unless we make ourselves "employable," which means shorter hair and a partial shave. I am enclosing a picture of me at the commune. Is this fair?—BIG ISRAEL

Dear Big Is: It's THEIR MARBLES. SO they can call the rules. If you won't trim up the brush, maybe you can live off the land.—H.

Dear Helen: Mrs. J.B. sure had it right when she said "teenager" today seems to be a bad word.

I have two teenage sisters and many teen friends. Recently one of our friends got into an accident and, although it was the other person's fault, he was blamed. He was "one of those wild kid drivers," they said.

When we go into stores, the sales clerks follow us around, watching to see if we lift something.

Recently a bunch of us went into a pizza place after a game. The manager said "Get out, you're teenagers and we don't want trouble."

Sure, a few kids cause trouble, but why do so many adults see us all as one big glob of bad news?—PAT

Dear Pat: "So many" or so few? Think back, Pat: Out of perhaps 25 stores and restaurants you've

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It was Bob Hope's last show of the season and Diahann Carroll's first television special. NBC's Monday night line-up was an interesting study in contrasts.

Hope's hour followed its traditional format—the monologue, then two or three comedy sketches separated by musical numbers. Hope's magic with audiences makes it work.

"The Diahann Carroll," as the second hour was rather awkwardly called, was an almost solid hour of music, given visual excitement by all sorts of camera and editing effects that ranged from slow motion sequences to fast cuts and tricky slicing of the television screen. That worked well, too.

Hope's monologue seemed a little shorter and more subdued than usual, with his best quips reserved for the demise of the SST—"the first plane that ever crashed before it took off."

There was a spoof of "Lassie," with Bob playing an overgrown Timmie after 32 years refusing to give up his role as a 6-year-old.

By coincidence, Miss Carroll's special used a similar idea—what would happen if her series, "Julia," continued for 19 years. Bill Cosby appeared in a cameo as her son.

Lee Marvin and Bob were involved in a ragged sketch about a cut-rate airline. Sammy Davis Jr. was involved in a strange back-stage skit. Sketches on Hope shows always seem thrown together at the last minute, which may be part of their charm.

Miss Carroll's hour, on the other hand, showed infinite planning and rehearsal. She was the center of it all, singing alone before a small audience. Then, in flashbacks and dream sequences, the action would move away for a number—to Harry Belafonte, to Tom Jones. The beautiful Miss Carroll wore stunning clothes and changed her hair styles as often as her visited in the last week, in how many can you honestly say you were "put down bad?" For no reason?

"Sure, a few adults cause trouble, but why do so many teens see us all as one big glob of bad news?"

It works both ways, chum.—H.

Pick up "Win at Bridge with JACOBY MODERN" or any other book that covers the play of the cards and you will find a table that shows which card to lead from various high-card combinations.

These tables aren't exactly the same, but they do agree that the proper lead against no-trump from a suit headed by ace-queen-jack is the queen.

On most occasions you want to knock out the adverse king and set up the rest of the suit while retaining control. Like all rules at contract they apply in general. The winning player should learn to break them at the proper time.

North's two-club bid was Stayman and South's two-spade call showed four cards in that suit.

The daytime game show came back with a new set, a new signature tune and a few small changes in the rules.

Tim, one of our best amateur golfers and perhaps the World's best backgammon player, is also pretty good at bridge. Tim led the three of spades. He didn't mind fooling his partner. It was apparent that East wasn't going to be taking any tricks.

South reached over to dummy and played the deuce. He didn't think of playing the 10 and when East played the nine declarer was dead. It didn't matter whether he played the king or ducked. Tim was sure of four s p a d e s, the ace of hearts and a profit.

Senators, Atlanta Win Openers

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The umpires yelled "Play Ball!" but not everybody was ready to go when the major league baseball season opened Monday.

There were, for example, the Cincinnati Reds, who committed six errors—three by Woody Woodward—and handed Atlanta a 7-4 Opening Day Victory.

There was, for example, Bill Jinger, who loaded the bases on two walks and a hit batsman in the first inning, surrendered two runs without allowing a hit, and got Houston started towards a 5-2 victory over Los Angeles.

And there was, for example, Richard M. Nixon, who missed the Presidential Opener in Washington and did not see the Senators shut out Oakland 8-0 for their first opening day victory since 1962.

Most of the remaining major league teams get going today with Montreal at New York, St. Louis at Chicago, Los Angeles at Houston, Philadelphia at Pittsburgh and San Francisco at San Diego in the National League and New York at Boston, Kansas City at California, Milwaukee at Minnesota, and Cleveland at Detroit in the American League. The Chicago White Sox and Baltimore open on Wednesday.

Felix Millan had four hits for the Braves—the last one a lead-off triple in the eighth inning with score tied 4-4. He scored the tie-breaking run a moment later when Woodward committed his third error of the game.

Los Angeles tagged Larry

Dierker for 10 hits, twice as many as Houston managed against Singer and reliever Joe Moeller. But the Astros capitalized on Singer's early wildness to grab a lead they never surrendered.

A pair of infield outs produced two runs after Singer loaded the bases on two walks and the hit batsman in the first, and then Denis Menke drilled a triple for two more in the third. Cesar Cedeño had a single and double, driving in one run and scoring another for the Astros.

President Nixon dispatched M. Sgt. Daniel L. Pitzer, a former Vietnam prisoner of war, to toss out the first ball at the presidential opener in Washington. Melvin Laird, the secretary of defense, accompanied Pitzer to the game and read a statement from the president, reminding the nation of the American servicemen missing or held prisoner in Vietnam.

Dick Bosman, Washington's winning pitcher, missed the president. Nixon was on hand last year when Bosman lost the opener, 5-0 to Detroit and the Senator ace wanted the chief executive to have seen his turnabout.

Neither Team Happy With Playoff

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Bullets would rather wait a while. The New York Knicks can't stand the wait. Neither team is particularly happy with the way the National Basketball Association playoffs are going.

The Bullets, with stars Earl Monroe, Wes Unselt, Kevin Loughery and Gus Johnson slowed by injuries and the entire team weary from its seven-game series against Philadelphia, start the Eastern Conference finals tonight against the Knicks, who have been resting since eliminating Atlanta last Thursday night.

"I'd feel better if we were opening Friday," Baltimore Coach Gene Shue said Monday after his players reviewed films of the Knicks and discussed strategy. "They were in no mood for a workout," he interjected.

Shue, believing the Bullets-Knicks series would start Friday, was angered after Sunday's 128-120 victory over the 76ers when NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy, citing schedule and television problems, announced the earlier start.

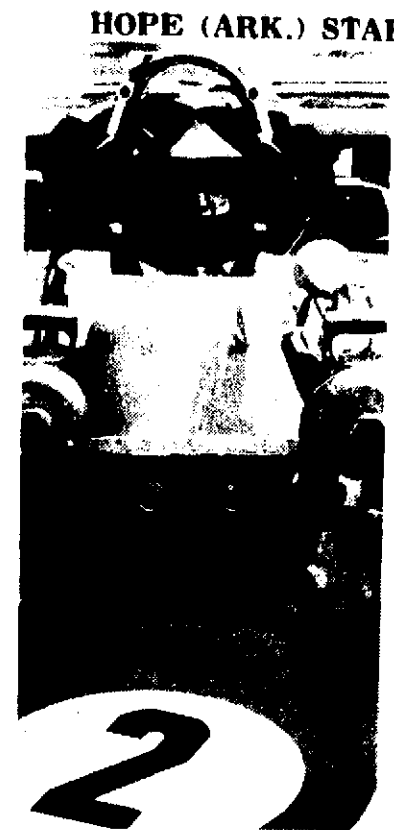

Even worse, the original plan called for tonight's game in New York, then No. 2 Wednesday night in Baltimore followed by a Friday night contest back in New York.

"We can't get up for it emotionally or physically," Shue said of the back-to-back games. "I'll even let the Knicks play the first two at home."

The league agreed. So game No. 2 will also be in Madison Square Garden, but on Friday night, before the scene shifts to Baltimore.

In tonight's only other NBA game, the Chicago Bulls and Los Angeles Lakers, tied 3-3 in the Western semifinal, will play the deciding contest in Los Angeles. The winner will meet Milwaukee, which beat San Francisco in the other Western semis.

The Bullets may be happy that the playoffs are being spread out—but at least one of the Knicks isn't.

"We can play five games in six nights during the season but we can't play back-to-back during the playoffs and get them over with," said Willis Reed, hobbled by knee and shoulder injuries.

"It's better to play the games as fast as we can," he said. "After such a long season it's tough to sit around and wait because the owners want to stretch it out. As far as the players are concerned, they'd like to play them and not waste so much time."

Nicklaus Hot as Masters Approaches

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus has been tearing apart tough Augusta National Golf Club, "shootin' 67 and 68 without really trying" as the 35th Masters prepares to raise its aristocratic head.

That's the word from partially-plump Steve Melnyk, a brash amateur strongboy who thinks he can win if Nicklaus falters. "I played four practice rounds with Jack," said Steve. "He messed around a lot, teaching me tricks now and then, and still ripped the course limb from limb."

Golf's only "double grand slammer," Nicklaus flew home to Florida for a day off Monday as a majority of the 77-man field worked in the rain toward Thursday's opening round of the most blue-blooded of all major championships.

"Nicklaus doesn't need any more practice," grinned Melnyk, balding at age 24. "He's ready."

If the Golden Bear would kindly stay home, the trimmed-down Melnyk feels an amateur might finally win the Masters after near misses by Frank Stranahan in 1947, Ken Venturi in 1956 and Charlie Coe in 1961. They all finished second, Venturi blowing it with a final-round 80. "Yep, an amateur can win here," said Melnik, a former U.S. Amateur champion. "Nope, none ever has ... but it can be done." Anybody in particular? "Yep," he said. "Let's just say it's a personal pronoun."

Melnik huffed and puffed less during this year's Masters prep rounds. "I've lost from 265 pounds down to 228—that's 37, count 'em," he smiled. "I used to walk up the 18th like I was climbing a mountain. Now I don't even breathe hard."

Hanging Out the College Grid Wash

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out some off-season college football wash:

The last time Bob Blackman held spring practice was in 1954 at the University of Denver. The next time will be next week at the University of Illinois.

The intervening years were spent compiling a 104-37-3 coaching record at Dartmouth, which, as a member of the Ivy League, frowns on springtime pigskin perspiration.

You might think Blackman would feel strange about it, but he says that "of a hundred problems I have here, that's the least. Football is essentially practice and it's not really a major problem."

While other coaches were sending their charges through spring workouts, Blackman, in his Dartmouth days, was busy recruiting, which is a year-round job among the Ivies and at which he has few, if any, peers.

Ivy League schools send out notices of admission on April 15 and a boy has two weeks or so to accept. "It's a crucial time," says Blackman, who has been on the road almost every night during his few months at Illinois. Under Blackman, the Illinois will hit the road to various towns in the state for practice sessions, with all proceeds going to local high school athletic programs.

"We're doing it for three main reasons," he says. "Number one is to try and expose our type of football to more people in the state. Number two is to establish good public relations with the high school coaches. The high schools are really going all out. Number three is that five weeks of spring practice can become kind of routine when you're just banging heads every day."

Theismann Signs With Canadians

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Joe Theismann, Notre Dame's All-American quarterback and runnerup for the Heisman Trophy this year, has signed a two-year contract with Toronto of the Canadian Football League, Argonauts board chairman John Bassett said Monday.

The move surprised the Canadian team which gave up on Theismann after he was reported to have reached agreement with the National Football League's Miami Dolphins. Theismann was a fourth-round draft choice of the Dolphins. Joe Robbie, general managing partner for the Dolphins, said an agreement had been reached with Theismann and although no contract was signed, "We have an agreement with Joe Theismann which we expect him to honor."

Thinks Jury in Grid Probe Just Fishing

CLEVELAND Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Browns' owner Art Modell said Monday that a federal grand jury here investigating the National Football League was "on a fishing expedition" and would not find any wrongdoing in the league.

"They feel there is a dark conspiracy in the NFL to black-list players, but there is no basis of fact for their presumption," Modell said after testifying for three hours Monday. He had also appeared before the jury March 8.

"I know the NFL is not guilty of anything they charge and that the NFL and all its member clubs will be vindicated once the investigation is completed," continued Modell, a former NFL president.

He said that "someone has sold the Department of Justice a bill of goods," and added he couldn't understand why the jury was "so convinced that what they have been told is fact."

Modell said he believes the investigation, which began in November, was brought about by a small group of "malcontents, publicity seekers, people with axes to grind—and people writing books to who want to be vindicated."

He charged that former Browns' defensive backs Bernie Parrish and Walter Beach, who claim they were blacklisted, have "vendettas" against the NFL.

"Beach retired from football. Then when he couldn't make it the next year felt that someone plotted against him," said Modell.

Testifying earlier Monday was George Owen, former director of player relations for the New Orleans Saints. He said he did not know of anyone who had been blacklisted.

The jury was expected to conduct regular business today and Wednesday and resume its NFL probe on Thursday.

Equipment Line Small at Marshall

By STEVE SHIPP
HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — The equipment line in the football locker room at Marshall University is noticeably shorter this spring.

It is only a minor indication of the task which lies ahead of the university's announced intentions of again fielding a major college football team—a task few men would want to accept at this 8,500-student school.

It started Monday here at Marshall, a school which last fall appeared to have recovered from a 1969 recruiting scandal and a 26-game losing streak.

Then an airline disaster—the worst in American sports history—wiped out a young coaching staff and their dedicated players.

Now, new head coach Jack Lengyel is trying to once again build a team, working with a few holdovers, members of last year's freshman squad and anyone from the student body who can show both interest and some talent.

Equipment is being handed out this week to nearly 50 potential varsity prospects, including 28 holdover freshmen. But Lengyel maintains that "only the individual willing to pay the price" will be a member of the Thundering Herd next fall.

Lengyel completed his coaching staff 10 days ago and spring practice begins next Monday on the Astroturf of Marshall's Fairfield Stadium. The $1 million surface was installed last fall.

Two College Stars Sign With NBA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Basketball Association signed two college stars and the American Basketball Association one in the latest developments in the pro basketball war Monday.

Notre Dame's high scoring Austin Carr, selected as the College Player of the Year by The Associated Press, signed with the Cleveland Cavaliers of the NBA.

The Buffalo Braves, also of the NBA, signed seven-foot Elmore Smith of Kentucky State while the Virginia Squires of the ABA signed Julius Erving of the University of Massachusetts.

The 6-foot-3 Carr was signed to what Nick Miletti, Cleveland owner, said was "a contract fitting the No. 1 college player in the country." The exact terms were not disclosed, but it was estimated Carr had signed a multi-year contract for more than $1 million.

What Smith and Erving signed for also was kept mum. It was rumored that Smith, the Little All-American who led Kentucky State to two straight NAIA championships, signed more than $1 million and Erving for more than $500,000.

Paul L. Snyder, owner of the Buffalo club, said the pact with Smith was a multi-year one with payments spread out over "approximately a 20-year period." Smith said only that he had turned down an offer of $2.2 million from the Carolina Cougars of the ABA.

Earl Foreman, owner of the Squires, said that the 6-6 Erving had signed a four-year contract.

Erving is a junior and Foreman said that "we are as anxious as anyone to see the young man finish college. He is an intelligent young gentleman who wanted to play professional basketball. We did not influence him to sign, but we are pleased he selected the Squires."

Foreman added the contract contains a clause under which Erving would receive a bonus when he receives a college degree.

Retired Golf Editor Takes 4th Title

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) — A retired golf editor from Newark, N.J., has captured his fourth title in the annual Golf Writers Association of America championship tournament.

Des Sullivan, 58, formerly of the Newark News, took the tournament under steady rain Monday, defeating Dan Jenkins on the first hole of a sudden death playoff on the Dunes Golf Club's 7,008-yard course.

Sullivan and Jenkins, a senior editor of Sports Illustrated, had tied in regular play with 76 apiece.

Tied for third were former champions Nelson Cullenward of the San Francisco Examiner and Charley Price, a golf historian from nearby Hilton Head, S.C., and Joe Gambatase, editor of Golf Guide. All three had 78.

Musselman's Challenge Did Work

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — There were some smirks when Bill Musselman walked into the Ashland College dressing room for the first time and posted a sign:

"Nation's No. 1 defense." Two players snickered and grinned," Musselman recalled. "I asked them if they didn't set goals for themselves, what did they want to achieve."

The challenge worked. Ashland College won 129 games, lost 30 in six seasons under the Musselman and set a modern college record by holding opponents to 33.9 points per game in 1968-69.

The sign remains at the Ohio college, but the 30-year-old Musselman is bringing new challenges to the University of Minnesota, which named him new basketball coach Monday. "I have set some goals," said Musselman, chosen after Cal Luther of Murray, Ky., State first accepted the job Friday and then changed his mind.

"I want to bring winning basketball to Minnesota," said Musselman. "I want to win the Big Ten championship. I want to win the NCAA championship."

Musselman, who will stress defense, set no time chart.

"Our goal next year is to win the Big Ten," he said.

Musselman, a disciple of defensive-minded Coach Ray Mears, of Tennessee said when he heard Luther first got the job he was disappointed. When the Gophers recalled him, he thanked Luther.

"He's going to be my lifetime buddy," said Musselman, a native of Wooster, Ohio who becomes the youngest Minnesota head coach in modern history.

Mandatory ROTC Out at State

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas State University Board of Trustees voted Monday to abolish mandatory ROTC at the school.

The board voted to change from a compulsory to a voluntary program after Dr. Carl R. Reng, ASU president, presented to the board a report on voluntary ROTC. Reng said he had no recommendation to make, however.

W. P. Gully Jr. of Little Rock made the motion to establish a voluntary program. Three board members supported the motion. There was no negative vote, although Austin Temple of Crossett has expressed his opposition to a voluntary program before leaving the meeting before the vote.

Chairman Joe Brooks of Jonesboro abstained.

Students have demonstrated at the university against mandatory ROTC.

In other action Monday, Brooks was re-elected chairman of the board. Temple was elected vice chairman and Gully was named secretary.

Pirates Fear Pickets for Opener

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Despite a court order, brewery workers and their families were expected to picket the Pittsburgh Pirate opener today to protest exclusive sales of a rival brewery's product in the stands of Three Rivers Stadium.

"They'll have to throw a lot of women and a lot of children into jail if the injunction is enforced," said one Duquesne Brewing Co. employee, disgruntled over a recent decision to sell only Iron City beer, a Pittsburgh Brewing Co., product, in the stands and Duquesne at concession booths. The Pirates, fearful stadium workers might honor picket lines received a temporary injunction Monday in Allegheny County Court banning picketing.

"Three Rivers Stadium and the Pirates cannot be made the whipping boy for every grievance remotely concerning the stadium," said Joe L. Brown, Pirate general manager.

"The sale of beer in the stadium does not involve the Pirates and is solely the concern of the stadium concessionaire," Brown added.

Named in the court order were the Duquesne Brewing Co., Brewery Workers Local 144 and "others who might act in concert." Meanwhile, the National Labor Relations Board asked for a federal court injunction against picketing, charging it would constitute a secondary boycott.

Pitcher Who Killed Batter Succumbs

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The death of Carl Mays, the submarine pitcher, on Sunday in Cajon, Calif., recalls the circumstances of his fast ball that killed Ray Chapman, star Cleveland shortstop, in 1920.

It is the only instance in major league baseball history that a batter was fatally injured by a pitched ball. Mays was best remembered after the tragedy as the man who threw the pitch instead of a star moundman who had a career record of 208 victories in the majors.

Mays was pitching for the New York Yankees against the old Polo Grounds when the tragedy occurred Aug. 16, 1920. Yankee Stadium had not been built at the time.

The first-place Indians were in a hot American League pennant fight with the Chicago White Sox and the Yankees. Only 10 percentage points separated the teams with Cleveland first at 70-40 (.636), the White Sox second at 72-42 (.632) and the Yankees third at 72-43 (.626).

Cleveland was leading 3-0 when Chapman came up as the Indians' leadoff hitter in the fifth inning. He batted close to the plate and, as Mays said later, "I threw my fast ball high and tight so he would pop up."

The ball hit Chapman on the head, and an account at the time said, "the spectators gasped" as he collapsed at the plate.

Chapman regained consciousness, but collapsed again. He was rushed to a hospital where he died the next day at 4:30 a.m. after an operation for a fractured skull.

Mays, who was held blameless, contended Chapman ran into the ball. "If he had stayed in the batter's box, it would have missed him by a foot."

Many thought Mays would not pitch again. "But I fooled them," he said. "I went out and pitched the rest of the year. Why should I let it ruin the rest of my life? It wasn't my fault and I had a wife and two children and they had to eat."

High Jumpers Starve, Must Have Rhythem

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rhythm and starvation are the keys to good high jumping says the top leader so far in 1971.

"I don't eat for 36 or even 48 hours before I jump," says John Dobroth.

"All the good jumpers are thin and so I try to lose five or six pounds just before I jump. I take a food supplement so I don't get weak."

The former Occidental College jumper, who is two months away from a degree in law at UCLA, went 7 feet 2 1/2 inches last Saturday, a lifetime best.

He says the starvation and a new method are responsible for his clearing "my lifelong dream—2.20 meters."

"I firmly believe that the Fosbury Flop is the finest method of high jumping but I can't use it. I can't see myself floating backwards over the bar, looking up at the sky and exposing my neck to the pit."

"But I think I've studied the flop method enough to be able to use its assets in my old-fashioned straddle," says the 6-foot, 165-pound Dobroth.

"In the flop, the accent is on speed. The faster you can go, the higher you're likely to jump. But with the straddle, you tend to lose control of your body when you go to fast. For that reason, on the next-to-last step a jumper takes in the straddle, he uses his leg to kind of break his speed."

"That way, you have more control but you lose all your momentum."

Dobroth's best high school jump was 4-10 and his development has come because of hard work. "I'm not as gifted as some of the others in the world so I'm sure some of them could be going 7-8 or 7-10 right now."

Married and already planning to work in the district attorney's office in Ventura County, Dobroth says he's not interested in the Olympics next year.

Brazil completed a 5-0 sweep of its American Zone Davis Cup tennis match with Bolivia by winning the final two singles Monday.

Edson Mandarino whipped Ramiro Benavides in straight sets 6-0, 6-2, 6-3. Thomas Koch had a similarly easy time disposing of Oscar Chiarella 6-1, 6-0, 6-1 to conclude the match at Porto Alegre.

Brazil now meets Ecuador at Porto Alegre in the next round of the Davis Cup eliminations April 16-18.

At Jakarta, Indonesia's Atet Wijono defeated Australia's John Cooper 6-4, 6-4, 10-8 to salvage at least one singles in the Eastern Zone semifinals.

The singles ended in a drizzle which put off until Tuesday the last singles of the Indonesia-Australia match.

The Aussies, with an insurmountable 3-1 lead, will next meet Japan in the Eastern Zone final.

Japan reached the final by defeating The Philippines.

Pacers Move Game Closer to a Sweep

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Indiana Pacers moved one game closer to a possible sweep of the Western Division semifinal playoffs in the American Basketball Association Monday by posting a come-from-behind 91-90 win over the Memphis Pros.

The Pacers, who topped Memphis twice in Indianapolis to open the playoffs, trailed throughout the first three periods except for a brief moment in the second quarter when they grabbed a 26-25 lead.

Steve Jones of Memphis was the game's leading scorer with 31 points and reserve guard Charley Williams chipped in 19 for the Pros. Freddie Lewis paced Indiana with 23 while Roger Brown and Mel Daniels added 18 apiece.

Wednesday night Indiana can end the series with a victory. A Memphis win would send the playoffs back to Indianapolis for a Friday night contest.

Tonight Utah, leading its series 3-0, will try to sweep the other western division semifinal playoffs against the Texas Chaparrals at Dallas.

In Eastern Division action the Virginia Squires, leading 2-0, travel to New York to face the Nets and the Kentucky Colonels face the Floridians at Miami. Kentucky leads that series 2-0.

Notes From the Pro Golf Tournament

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:

Many of the touring pros go into a dark brown study when they get on the course, blanking out the gallery, their surroundings, everything but the game from their consciousness in total concentration.

Not so Lee Trevino, who may be oblivious of his surroundings as he stands over the ball, but reverts to type after the shot, walking and joking with the gallery, talking to anyone and everyone.

"He's the only man I know," said Gloria Wood, wife of tour regular Larry Wood, "who takes 100 one-minute vacations every round."

Sam Snead recently was assessed a $150 fine for failing to sign his car after a poor round.

And look for young Jack Lewis is to get hit in the pocketbook for his performance on the 36th hole at last week's Greater Greensboro Open.

Lewis needed to par the hole to make the cut for the final two rounds. He missed it. And, in frustration, started raking the ball back and forth around the cup, once hitting it while it was moving.

He finished with a 10 on the hole, including seven putts.

Dandy Doug Sanders said it's his hands, his feel with the club, that has helped him win 18 tour events.

"I've got the touch of a surgeon with a club," the graying veteran said.

"If some of the other guys on the tour had my touch and ever learned to hit a bunker shot and wedge, they'd make three times as much money as they do."

When the Avco Corporation pulled out as a sponsor of the tournament by that name, the event in Sutton, Mass. was designated the Pleasant Valley Open.

And now, even before it's been played under that title, the name has been changed again.

Now it's the Massachusetts Golf Classic.

SHAVING STROKES

by

Frank

Beard

There are 14 clubs in your bag, and the temptation is strong to practice with every one of them every time you're on the range. It's especially fun to bash out long shots with the driver.

The average player should be trying to swing his way into a solidly repeating groove, and he would be better off sticking to one club, preferably a short iron like a 7-iron. Tony Jacklin, the U.S. Open champion, rebuilt his swing in the last two years, bringing his legs much more into play and slowing his tempo. He practiced many hours to make the changes, and he used only a 7-iron.

His theory was that, with a shorter club, he would not be straining for distance and would be better able to concentrate on making a firm, smooth swing time after time. I have to agree with him.

The wisdom in this viewpoint is even more evident early in the season, when your body isn't quite in tune for golf, and your swing is a bit rusty. And remember to ease into the new year gradually. Don't let your new resolve to practice more bring on early blisters and muscle pulls. Take it easy until you're in shape.

Wreck Delays Golf Game

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers' golf game was only delayed by the three-car accident.

He got in nine holes Sunday after the accident in which damage was estimated at $3,000 for all three autos.

Bumpers and his party were in a car driven by a state trooper attempting to make a left turn. Eldon Rankin, 43, of Pine Bluff stopped behind the governor's car. Charles Dewey, 27, of Jacksonville, headed fishing with his family, rammed his car into the rear of Rankin's and it was pushed into the governor's.

The only injury was a minor one to Mrs. Dewey.

Aspirin was introduced into medicine by Hermann Dreser in 1893 according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

Lions Club Speaker

DR. SURESH PRASAD

Guest speaker at the weekly Lions Club Luncheon Monday at Town and Country was Dr. Suresh Prasad, Director of Research and Diagnostic Services for Mountaire Poultry Company, Nashville, Arkansas. Dr. Prasad was born in Chapra (Bihar) India and while he has a very responsible position in the poultry industry with Mountaire he felt that the club members would be more interested in hearing something of his homeland so he spent the period in talking of life and customs in India. He presented beautiful slides of well known scenes and others just as beautiful but not familiar to the average tourist.

Dr. Prasad attended high school and received veterinary education in two colleges in Bihar, India and did post graduate work at the University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri. Dr. Prasad worked for the Animal Husbandry Department for the government of India until 1965 when he came to America; first to the University of Missouri and in 1966 to Mountaire in Nashville.

India has 500 million population with seven cities in excess of one million. Over 1200 languages and dialects are spoken. The main religions are Hindu, Moslem, Christian, Sikh and Jain.

Bumpers Plans to Veto Life Sentence Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers said Monday he intends to veto a bill redefining a sentence of life imprisonment as a term of 99 years.

Rep. Wayne Courtney of Forrest City sponsored the one-sentence bill, which was aimed at increasing the minimum sentence of life terms from 16½ years to 33 years before an inmate would be eligible for parole.

The governor also said he may veto a bill that established a legislative committee with subpoena power to oversee his implementation of the state government reorganization plan.

The governor told a news conference that the "watchdog" group would be "just another committee" and that he intended to make regular reports on implementation of the plan to the Legislative Council, the out-of-session arm of the General Assembly.

Russians Are Promised Better Days

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin offered the Soviet people an economic plan for "peace and progress" today but said the armed forces also must be expanded to balance the threat of "American imperialists."

While promising to spend "vast" sums to make more food and other consumer goods available, he warned that "tension and the threat of war continue in the world."

"We have no right to forget—even for a minute—the need to strengthen our armed forces and maintain their high combat preparedness," the premier told the Soviet Communist party's 24th congress.

"The American imperialists are trampling on international law by waging a disgraceful, dirty bandit war in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos, and are helping the aggressors in the Middle East."

"The new five-year plan will ensure the further consolidation of the defense capability of our state."

At the same time, he said, Soviet life will become "more prosperous, and spiritually more meaningful and interesting."

Kosygin said the guidelines for economic growth in the next five years give more attention to the consumer than ever before in Soviet history.

The Tass summary of the premier's speech emphasized concern for the consumer rather than for the heavy industry sector which traditionally is given priority in the Soviet economy.

The draft directives for the 1971-75 economic plan call for production of consumer goods to increase by 44-48 per cent, while heavy industry is to grow by 41-45 per cent. But with heavy industry's enormously broader base, it would take many years at such comparative rates of increase for consumer goods to move into priority position.

Kosygin, known as a proponent of expansion of consumer goods, conceded that heavy industry "remains the foundation of the Soviet Union's economic might and the future of the people's well-being." But he listed numerous specific benefits the population can expect before 1975, including:

—Extra financial assistance to families with many children.

—Improvement of working conditions for women.

—Salary increases averaging 30 per cent in five years.

—Increases in appropriations for bringing up the younger generations.

The value of industrial output will reach 528 billion to 544 billion rubles—$580 billion to 598 billion at the official rate—by 1975, he predicted. He said this would be an increase of 100 per cent in 10 years, or since the ouster of Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Election in Chicago to Draw Million

CHICAGO (AP) — About one million voters are expected to turn out today to determine whether Mayor Richard J. Daley should run Chicago for an unprecedented fifth four-year term.

His opponent is Richard E. Friedman, 41, a bachelor who bolted the Democratic party to run against the 68-year-old Daley as a Republican.

Polls indicate Friedman's campaign, hitting Daley's regime as one of "bricks and mortar" but with little concern for people, probably will make inroads into what was expected to be another hasty triumph for Daley.

"I have no idea what he has in mind specifically," Scott said. "We have talked and I was made quite confident that he had something he wanted me to do that would be in a public service capacity and would be interesting and satisfying work."

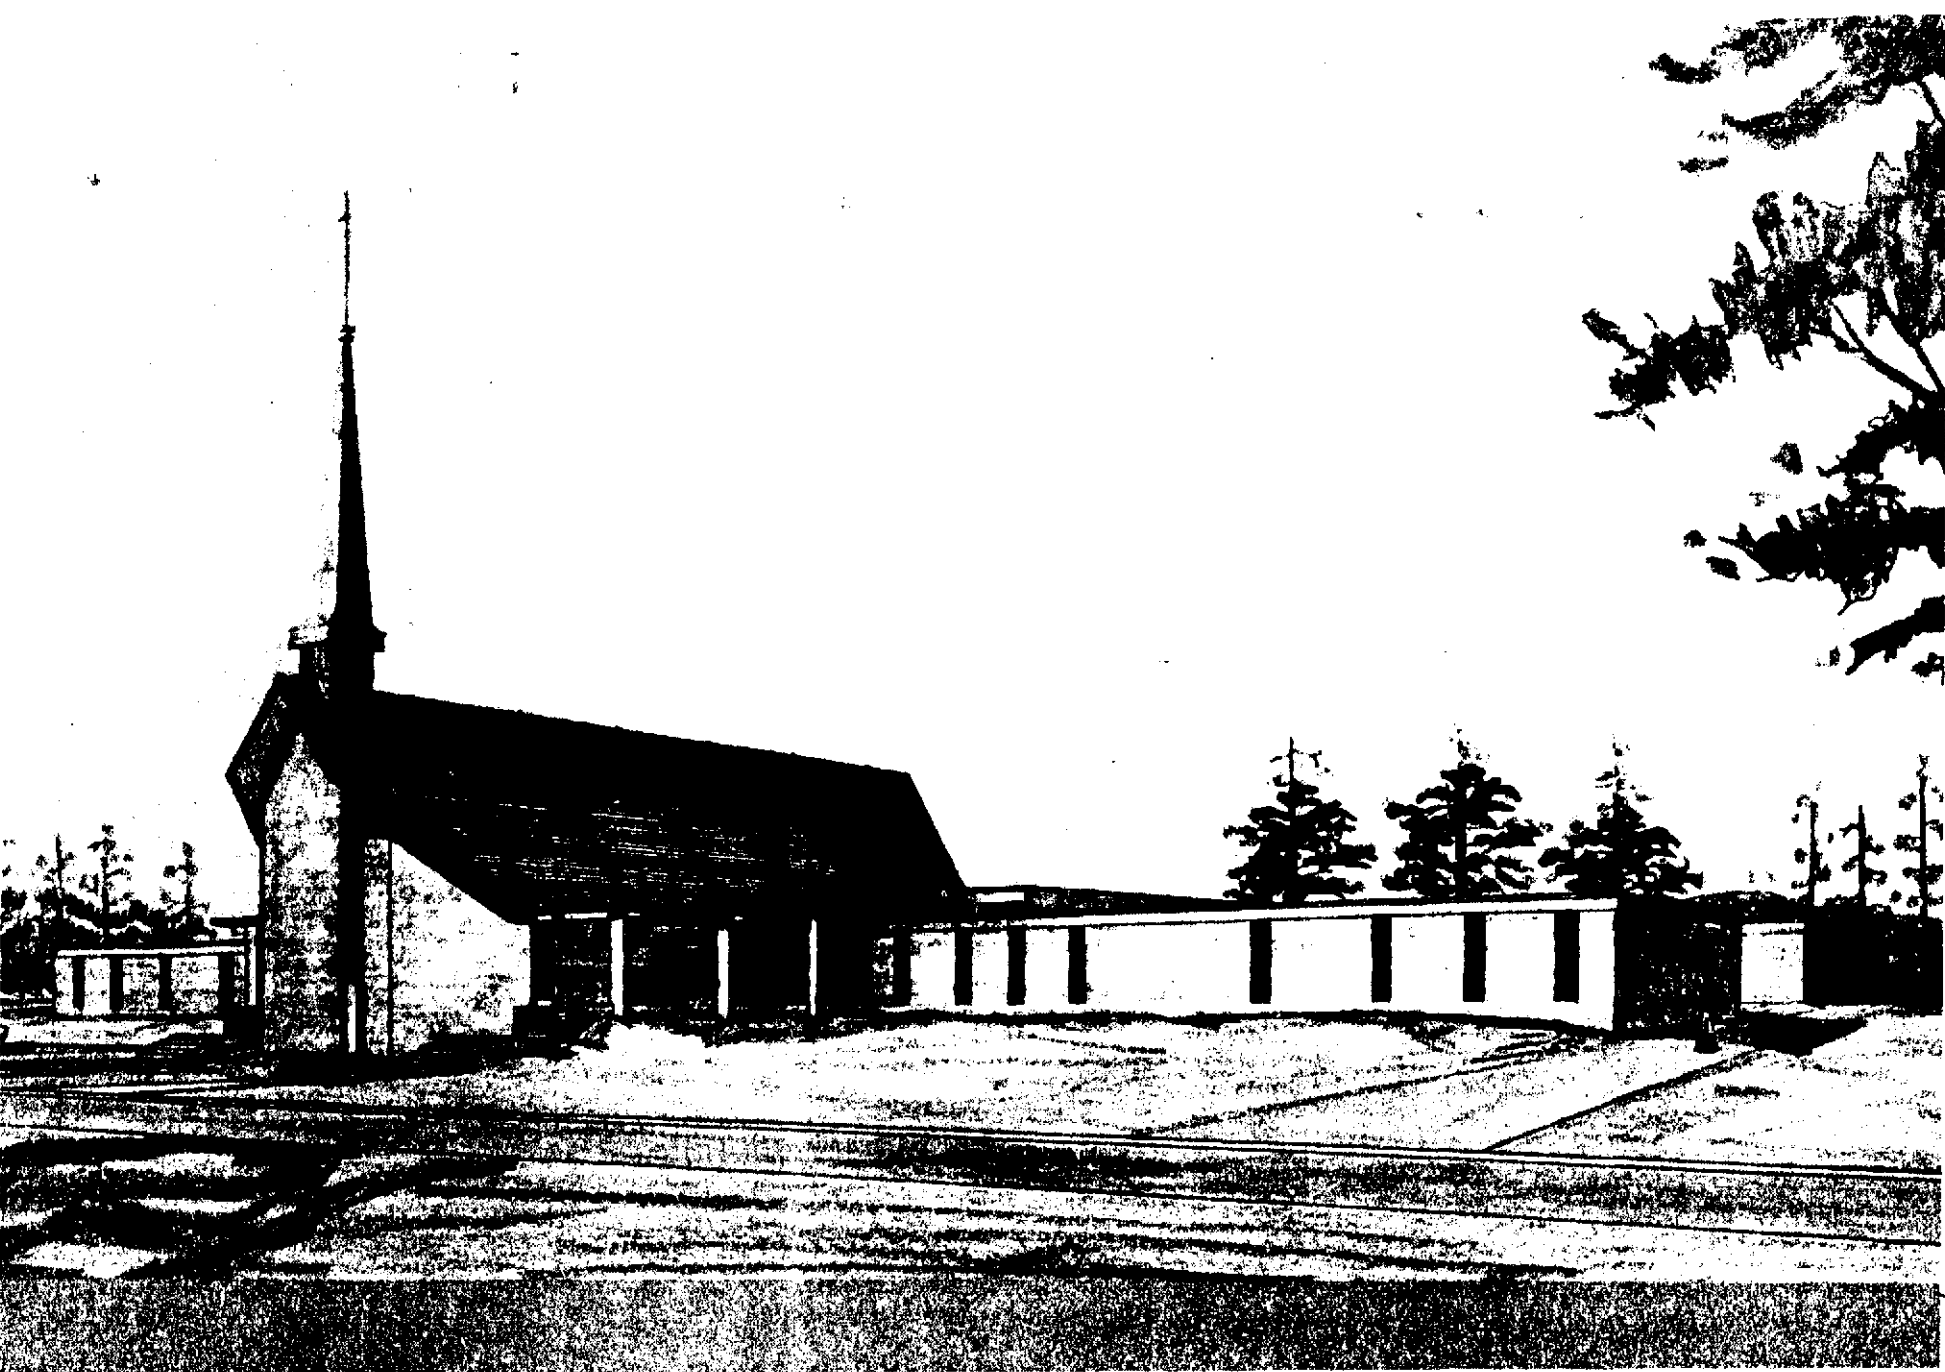

He said he had written Bumpers about the pilot program but that the governor had made no commitment regarding any role Scott might play.
